2025 Clean Water Cross-Program Workshop

Hyatt Regency O'Hare Chicago

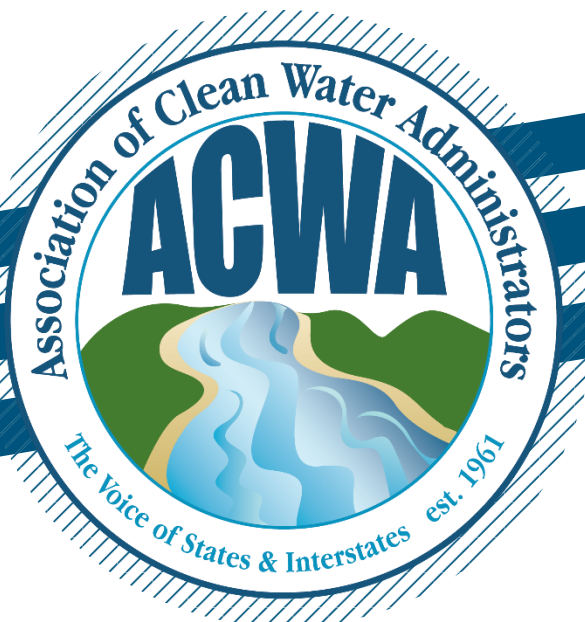

July 22-23, 2025

Purpose: ACWA's CWA Cross-Program Workshops are intended to bring together state and federal Clean Water Act (CWA) program administrators to discuss and share ways in which cross-program coordination and collaboration can be strengthened to more effectively and efficiently restore and protect the nation's waters. The 2025 Workshop will focus on opportunities and challenges for state administrators of CWA Sections 303(c), 303(d), and 402 in working together to improve nutrient management and restoration of nutrient impaired waters.

State and federal clean water leaders will identify cross-program challenges and barriers to CWA implementation; work toward solutions to cross cutting water quality topics; identify ways to improve technical capabilities; highlight opportunities for cross-program planning, implementation, and co-operation; and clarify linkages, roles, and responsibilities among CWA programs.

Attendees: The Workshop target audience will be state regulators from around the country with practical experience and responsibilities in supporting and managing these programs, as well as EPA representatives for each of the programs. Attendees should come prepared to discuss ways in which cross-program coordination has been an important aspect of successful program and/or restoration plan implementation, as well as cross-program challenges and needs.

*This meeting is limited to state and territorial officials, as well as U.S. EPA officials.
